STIPULATED PROTECTIVE ORDER - 1

2 This Matter, having come before the Court by Joint Motion of the above-identified 3 Plaintiffs and Defendant Life Insurance Company of North America (LINA); it further 4 appearing that documents produced – or which may later be produced – may constitute trade 5 secret and/or other confidential research, development, competitive or commercial 6 information as such terms may be defined and used under the laws of the State of 7 Washington; and it further appearing that judicial economy will be served by entering of this 8 Order.

9 The Court hereby orders that the subjoined Stipulated Protective Order be entered.

10 I. STIPULATION

11 These identified lawsuits may involve the production of technical, business, and 12 personal financial information. Certain of the information to be exchanged by the parties, and 13 certain of the information that may be filed with the Court, may be of a proprietary, 14 confidential, and sensitive nature, the disclosure of which could lead to competitive 15 disadvantage or loss of privacy rights. It is the purpose of this stipulation and protective order 16 (the “Protective Order”) to allow the parties to have reasonable access to information from 17 other parties and third parties while protecting information that may be of a proprietary, trade 18 secret, confidential, sensitive, and/or private nature without frequent resort to determinations 19 of discoverability by the Court or a discovery referee. Accordingly, Plaintiff, through its 20 undersigned counsel; and Defendant, through his undersigned counsel, hereby stipulate and 21 agree to a protective order pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. 26(c), and respectfully request that the 22 Court approve the parties’ stipulation, as follows:

23 1. Confidential Information

24 “Confidential Information” means any information disclosed in this lawsuit, whether 25 disclosed in a discovery response, during a deposition, by way of a written statement in a 26

STIPULATED PROTECTIVE ORDER - 2

1 document, or otherwise, that a party designates as "confidential," irrespective of who 2 produced the information, and that relates to the following:

- 3 a. Trade secret information, as defined in the Uniform Trade Secrets Act 4 (RCW 19.108.010) or similar or equivalent law;
- 5 b. Proprietary and competitive business information;
- 6 c. Personal information, where disclosure of that information would violate a 7 person's privacy, including, but not limited to, any such information 8 contained in insurance files and employment files; and
- 9 d. Financial information (including, but not limited to, tax returns, financial 10 statements, banking records, brokerage records, and electronic data 11 containing financial information).

12 A "person" includes any natural person and, where relevant, a corporation or other 13 entity. The parties have agreed, for purposes of this Protective Order only, that the standard 14 for determining whether a person's privacy would be violated is based on the standard set 15 forth in the Washington Public Records Act, RCW 42.56.050, which provides as follows:

16 A person's "right to privacy," "right of privacy," "privacy," or "personal 17 privacy," as these terms are used in this chapter, is invaded or violated only if 18 disclosure of information about the person: (1) Would be highly offensive to a reasonable person; and (2) is not of legitimate concern to the public.

19 Notwithstanding any other provision in this Protective Order, the Protective Order does not 20 apply to information that is publicly available.

21 2. Designating Confidential Information

22 A party may designate any document produced in discovery that the party believes in 23 good faith to be Confidential Information by stamping the word "CONFIDENTIAL" thereon.
24 Even if not initially stamped "CONFIDENTIAL" prior to production, all parties reserve the 25 right to later identify as confidential any documents produced for inspection and selected by 26 the receiving party for copying. Such Confidential Information, marked "CONFIDENTIAL,"

STIPULATED PROTECTIVE ORDER - 3

1 may not be utilized or disclosed by the receiving party, its agents or its employees, except in 2 accordance with the terms of this Order.

3 A party may also, at any time, designate as "CONFIDENTIAL" any documents
4 produced by a third party that the party believes, in good faith, to contain Confidential 5 Information.

6 Deposition testimony that a party reasonably believes will contain Confidential 7 Information may be taken in the presence of only persons entitled to access to such 8 information pursuant to this Order, and may be designated as "CONFIDENTIAL" by the 9 party making an appropriate statement on the record, in which case the reporter must stamp or 10 write "Contains Confidential Information" on the cover of the transcript. The portions of any 11 Deposition testimony containing material designated as Confidential Information under this 12 Protective Order must be treated as such as discussed below.

13 Any party seeking to use information designated as Confidential Information during a 14 deposition must seek the deponent's agreement on the record to abide by the terms of this 15 Protective Order. If the deponent refuses to assent, disclosure of such information to the 16 witness during the deposition does not constitute a waiver of confidentiality. Under such 17 circumstances, the witness must be asked to sign the original deposition transcript in the 18 presence of the court reporter, and no copy of the transcript or related exhibits may be given 19 to the deponent.

20 The failure to designate all or a portion of the record as confidential does not preclude 21 a party from designating all or a portion of the transcript as confidential within thirty (30)
22 days after the parties receive the complete deposition transcript. During that period, a party 23 may notify the other parties in writing that the deposition testimony includes Confidential 24 Information. The party claiming confidentiality must designate specific portions of the 25 transcript and any exhibits as Confidential Information and must give written notice to 26 opposing counsel of the specific portions of transcripts and specific exhibits which have been

STIPULATED PROTECTIVE ORDER - 4

1 designated as confidential. Only such designated portions and exhibits will be confidential at 2 the expiration of the 30-day period. During and after the deposition, until the expiration of 3 the above-described 30-day period, the entire transcript and any information derived 4 therefrom may be disclosed only pursuant to the terms of this Protective Order. If, however, 5 portions of the transcript must be filed in court within the 30-day period, the designating party 6 must move for protection of those portions as soon as practicable after the filing.

7 The designating party bears the burden of demonstrating that good cause exists for any 8 document to be designated as Confidential Information. Moreover, notwithstanding the 9 designation as "CONFIDENTIAL" of any testimony, documents, or other material as 10 provided above, such documents, testimony, and material will not in fact be deemed 11 Confidential Information and will not be subject to this Order, if it is shown that the substance 12 thereof:

- 13 a. Is, at the time of disclosure by the designating party, public knowledge by 14 publication or otherwise;
- 15 b. Becomes at any time, through no act or failure to act on the part of the 16 receiving party and without breach of any obligation of confidence, public 17 knowledge;
- 18 c. Is, at the time of disclosure by the designating party, already in the possession 19 of the receiving party, having not been acquired directly or indirectly from the 20 designating party; or
- 21 d. Has been made available to the receiving party by a third party who obtained 22 the same by legal means and without any obligation of confidence to the 23 designating party.

24 3. Reasonable Efforts / Inadvertent Disclosure

25 The parties must use reasonable efforts to designate Confidential Information only as 26 necessary to protect their respective interests. Any document, testimony, or material not

1 designated as "CONFIDENTIAL" will not be covered by this Protective Order. If any party 2 inadvertently produces or discloses any Confidential Information without marking it with the 3 appropriate legend, that party may give notice to the receiving party that the information
4 should be treated in accordance with the terms of this Protective Order. The new designation 5 will be effective upon receipt of such notification and must be implemented by the receiving 6 party as soon as practicable. Disclosure by any party of such information prior to notice of 7 the confidential nature thereof will not be deemed a violation of this Protective Order.

8 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED THAT:

9 1. Protection of Confidentiality. Confidential information and any notes, 10 summaries, digests, memoranda, exhibits or other documents which include or describe 11 Confidential Information, shall be retained by litigation counsel for Plaintiff and/or Defendant 12 and shall not be disclosed to any person except as provided herein. Persons to whom access to 13 Confidential Information is given pursuant to this Order shall keep such information and any 14 copies, abstracts, digests or summaries and descriptions thereof secure in accordance with the 15 purposes and intent of this Order.

16 2. Access to Confidential Information. Counsel shall be governed by the 17 following restrictions in its use of the Confidential Information produced to it and as to the 18 information derived therefrom:

19 a. Such Confidential Information may not be disclosed except as is 20 necessary for the purpose of, and solely in connection with, litigating this case. For that 21 purpose only, Counsel may disclose such information to the Court and its employees, court 22 reporters, independent expert witnesses or potential expert witnesses retained by Counsel for 23 Plaintiff, and such other persons as may be agreed upon by the parties in the future, said 24 agreement to be in writing signed by Counsel for all parties.

25 b. Before disclosure of Confidential Information to any person as 26 permitted by the preceding paragraph (other than the Court and its employees), such person

STIPULATED PROTECTIVE ORDER - 6

1 shall read a copy of this Order and sign an Agreement to Respect Confidential Information 2 attached hereto as Appendix "A" (the "Agreement"). Counsel shall maintain a copy of all 3 Agreements signed by such persons and shall furnish copies to opposing Counsel upon its 4 request. No Confidential Information shall not be disclosed to any person who refuses or has 5 failed to sign the Agreement. In the event any person who has signed an Agreement refuses to 6 comply therewith or fails to adhere to the terms thereof, Counsel shall make no further 7 disclosure to such person and shall immediately notify opposing Counsel in writing.

8 3. Limitation on Copying. Confidential Information may be copied and 9 summaries, digests or abstracts may be made, but all such copies, digests, abstracts and 10 summaries shall be considered Confidential and shall be subject to the provisions of this 11 Order.

12 4. Depositions. Nothing in this Order shall prevent the use by Counsel of 13 Confidential Information at depositions, with appropriate safeguards. At any deposition or 14 portion thereof in which Confidential Information will be disclosed, opposing Counsel may 15 require the deposition witness and/or court reporter to read and sign an Agreement if he or she 16 has not already done so. Upon the request of opposing Counsel, deposition or other testimony 17 shall be designated "Confidential" by the court reporter transcribing the deposition and 18 marked "Confidential" by the court report, provided however, that if a deposition contains 19 both allegedly confidential and non-confidential information, then only the confidential 20 portion thereof shall be so designated. Opposing Counsel shall additionally have thirty (30) 21 days after the deposition transcript has been made available to designate those portions of the 22 deposition testimony or exhibits which he deems to contain or reveal Confidential 23 Information. If documents or information designated Confidential are used in other 24 depositions, such documents or information, and all portions of the transcript of such 25 depositions and exhibits thereto which refer or relate to such documents or information, shall 26 be treated as Confidential Information and, if filed with the Court, shall be filed under seal.

STIPULATED PROTECTIVE ORDER - 7

1 5. Confidential Information to be Filed with Court Under Seal. All Portions of 2 the pleadings, motions, briefs, memoranda or other documents filed with the Court purporting 3 to reproduce, summarize, or paraphrase Confidential Information shall be filed in sealed 4 envelopes or other appropriate sealed containers on which shall be endorsed the title of this 5 action, an indication or the nature of the contents of such sealed envelope or other container, 6 the words "Confidential Information" and a statement substantially in the following form:

7 CONFIDENTIAL

8 This envelope contains information which has been 9 designated as Confidential and is not to be opened and its 10 contents are not to be disclosed to any person other than the Court or its Clerks except for by Order of the Court, or upon the stipulation of the parties.

11 6. References in Open Court. Confidential Information may be used by Counsel 12 in connection with any hearing or trial.

13 7. Confidentiality Challenge. If any party to this lawsuit believes that designated 14 Confidential Information should not be subject to this Protective Order, the party may provide 15 written notification to the other parties. The notice must clearly specify the designated 16 information and the reason(s) for believing that the designated information is not properly 17 subject to this Protective Order. The designating party must respond within seven (7) days of 18 receiving such notice. The party contesting the confidentiality designation or the level of 19 protection has the burden of bringing the dispute before the Court; however, the burden of 20 establishing that the information qualifies as Confidential Information remains with the party 21 who designated the information as such or who seeks to keep the information so designated.
22 Before making a motion, the challenging party must contact the designating party, and the 23 parties must confer in good faith in an effort to resolve the dispute. If such a motion is 24 brought, the designated Confidential Information will remain subject to this Protective Order 25 until the Court makes its determination. At the time for hearing any such motion, the 26 designating party or the party seeking to keep the information so designated will have the

STIPULATED PROTECTIVE ORDER - 8

1 burden of proving that the information designated as confidential should come within the 2 protection of this Protective Order.

3 8. Legal Process. In the event a recipient of Confidential Information produced 4 in connection with this action receives any subpoena, other legal process or request directed at 5 compelling the production of Confidential Information, that recipient shall immediately notify 6 Counsel, in writing, so as to afford it ample opportunity to contest that subpoena, legal 7 process or request.

8 9. Disposition or Termination of Action—Return of Confidential Materials.
9 Within 60 days of the entry of an Order finally terminating this action, including all appeals, 10 and unless Counsel agrees otherwise, in writing, Counsel and any other person receiving 11 Confidential Information shall assemble and turn over to Counsel all materials, documents, 12 summaries, digests and abstracts containing Confidential Information and all copies thereof, 13 provided, however that Counsel may retain one set of pleadings, documents filed with the 14 Court and depositions, and may retain any documents and copies thereof which are work 15 product, said materials to remain subject to this Order. As to any items retained by Counsel, a 16 complete list of same must be provided to opposing Counsel within the sixty (60) day period 17 of the entry of an Order finally terminating this action.

18 10. Costs, Damages and Sanctions. Counsel may be subject to sanctions for 19 breach of this Protective Order and shall reimburse opposing Counsel for all reasonable 20 attorney's fees and costs incurred as a result of a successful action initiated by opposing 21 Counsel seeking sanctions for breach of this Protective Order. Counsel shall also reimburse 22 the opposing party for all reasonable attorney's fees and costs incurred as a result of any 23 successful action initiated by opposing party to enforce this Protective Order. Nothing in this 24 Protective Order limits either party the right to pursue other legal or equitable remedies 25 available to it resulting from a breach of this Protective Order.
